Methodology:
The data represented illuminates key findings from the Millennial Disruption Index (MDI), a three-year study of industry disruption at the hands of teens to thirtysomethings. Millennials, a generation born 1981–2000 and more than 84 million strong in the U.S. alone, use technology, collaboration and entrepreneurship to create, transform and reconstruct entire industries. As consumers, their expectations are radically different than any generation before them.

For the MDI, Scratch surveyed over 10,000 Millennials about 73 companies spanning 15 industries. The results paint a clear picture of which brands are loved, which are meeting consumer needs, and which are poised on the brink of disruption. The Index also sheds light on the topline features of companies that Millennials rely on and identify with.

A business category with a low MDI score is less vulnerable to disruption. For categories with a high MDI, Scratch forecasts disruption is imminent.

All 4 of the leading Banks are among the ten least loved brands by Millennials.

The change will be seismic.

68% in 5 years, the way we access our money will be totally different.

70% in 5 years, the way we pay for things will be totally different.

Nearly half are counting on tech start-ups to overhaul the way banks work.

They believe innovation will come from outside the industry.
