

BBVA Code of Conduct

We are working towards a better future for people

Dear friend:

At BBVA we are proud to work for a better future for people and to do so according to the principles of prudence, integrity and transparency, which form the foundation on which our strategy is developed.

Our adherence to these principles is our commitment to our customers, colleagues and society at large; a commitment on which our solid reputation as a company is based.

Today I present you the new BBVA Code of Conduct, which was recently approved by the Board of Directors and provides guidelines in line with our principles and procedures to help clear up any doubts and make it easier to meet our obligations.

Our previous Code of Conduct was approved some time ago, and now is a good time to update it given the experience we've acquired over these last few years as we tackled the new challenges that have arisen in our sector.

This new Code of Conduct is one of the most advanced in the industry and clearly reflects an idea we have reiterated on many occasions: Our conduct must obey the letter and the spirit of the law without loosely interpreting it to circumvent it; it must be morally and ethically acceptable; and it must be presentable to the public at all times. If we have any reasonable doubts about whether any given conduct meets these three principles, we should not go forward with it nor allow for such conduct to take place in BBVA.

Please read this new Code of Conduct carefully and apply these principles in your daily activities. Complying with this new Code of Conduct will reinforce BBVA's reputation and the confidence our customers, shareholders and society at large have shown in us.

Kind regards

1.1. Know your customer

Know your customers and deal with them respectfully and professionally, offering them products and services appropriate to their financial needs.

Bear in mind the provisions of paragraph 3.7 of this Code, relating to Confidentiality and Data Protection.

1.2. Transparency

1.2.1

Provide clear and correct information, communicating features and risks of the products and services clearly and with transparency, bearing in mind the customer concerned.

Be familiar with the characteristics and risks of the products and services which you are going to market, studying the information made available to you and participating in training activities.

1.2.2

Offer and publicise products and services without false or deceptive messages and without omitting relevant information.

1.2.3

Avoid conflicts of interests. If you are unable to avoid them, make BBVA and the customer aware of them. Do not promote or engage in any bad trading or sales practices or fraud. Do not make the provision of products and services to the customer conditional upon obtaining a personal benefit or advantage. Bear in mind the provisions of paragraph 3.10 of this Code, relating to Dealing with Conflicts of Interest.

Apply the policy and procedures for the prevention of conflicts of interest.

1.3. Non-discrimination. Financial inclusion

Avoid any unjustified discrimination in relation to customers' access to our products and services.

1.3.1

Apply BBVA's policies to promote financial inclusion and access to our financial products and services by those on lower incomes.

1.3.2

1.4. Financial Responsibility

Listen to our customers and resolve quickly and diligently any requests, complaints and claims or, if applicable, refer them to the complaints resolution channels established by BBVA.

1.4.1

Document agreements with customers.

1.4.2

Be responsible in relation to lending proposals to our customers, seeking viable solutions when they find themselves in financial difficulties.

1.4.3

Do not enter into or co-operate in any illegal activities to defraud the legitimate rights of creditors or third parties.

1.4.4

2. Conduct towards our colleagues

At BBVA we wish to foster a working environment which enables your professional and personal development. The diversity of abilities and experience and the integration of different people and cultures is one of BBVA's key success factors.

2.1. Management style: Responsibility and team

2.1.1

Make decisions within the scope of your responsibilities, following the applicable policies and procedures and BBVA's values. If it is your responsibility to make a decision: make it.

2.1.2

Exercise your responsibilities in accordance with BBVA's management style. Remember that trust and team values are key elements of this, which means:

- A Mutual respect and support: behave towards your colleagues as you would like them to behave towards you.
- B Open communication: listen to everyone's opinion and keep your team and everyone who should be involved in the process properly informed, providing the information required to make an informed decision on a timely basis.
- C Professional development and promotion: develop your team members, identify their knowledge needs and encourage their participation in training activities.
- D Objectivity and rigour in the employee appraisal process.

2.2. Respect: Non-tolerance of discrimination, harassment or bullying

2.2.1

Offer and demand respect in your work relationships. Do not discriminate or allow others to discriminate against people on the grounds of gender, race, age, nationality, religion, sexual orientation, disability, family origin, language, political ideology, political or union affiliation or any other characteristic which is not related objectively with work conditions or the consideration of which is prohibited for such purposes by the applicable legislation.

2.2.2

Avoid any form of harassment, whether sexual, work-related or personal.

Avoid any behaviour which engenders an intimidating, hostile, humiliating or offensive work environment.

2.2.3

If you are aware of any conduct which might constitute a case of discrimination, harassment or bullying, report it in accordance with the procedures established in this Code and, if you can do so safely, take reasonable measures to prevent it from continuing. If you observe any discriminatory or abusive conduct by employees of a supplier providing services to BBVA, this should also be reported.

2.2.4

2.3. Objectivity in selection, appointment and promotion

Processes for the selection and promotion of employees, both internal and external, shall be based on the candidates' professional qualifications and abilities in relation to the post, applying the local policies for the promotion of inclusion and diversity, without allowing other factors to influence or affect the objectivity of the decision.

2.3.1

Do not offer jobs or contracts to public employees or authorities who are involved, in a significant way, in matters which directly affect BBVA's interests.

If you are aware that immediate relatives of public employees, as described in the previous paragraph are participating in a selection process, report this to Compliance.

2.3.2

The immediate relatives⁽²⁾ of a person subject to this Code may not apply for positions which report to you on a hierarchical or functional basis to their family member, however they may apply for other positions with the same assurances and on the same conditions as other candidates.

Status as a relative does not compensate for failure to meet the required criteria.

In the event that relatives of the Selection Team are participating in any recruitment process, this must be reported in advance to the country's Human Resources senior management.

(2) "Immediate relative" shall be understood to mean a spouse or individual with a similar personal relationship, father, mother, son, daughter, brother, sister, grandfather, grandmother, grandson, granddaughter, uncle, aunt, nephew, niece, and equivalent in-laws.

2.4. Health and safety in the work environment

Do not work under the influence of alcohol or drugs. In regard to medication which might affect safety in carrying out your work, consult your doctor; do not take risks.

The possession, sale, consumption, transmission or distribution of illicit drugs or psychotropic substances are not permitted in the workplace under any circumstances⁽³⁾.

3. Conduct towards the business

This chapter contains the standards of professional and personal behaviour to ensure that employees behave with integrity and care with regard to BBVA. The objective is to guarantee that we fulfill our legal obligations and to avoid the possibility that our conduct might contravene internal procedures and policies and might damage BBVA's value, image or reputation.

3.1. Accounting and recording of transactions

You must ensure the adequate accounting, registration and documentation of all transactions, income and expenses, without omitting, hiding or changing any detail or information; so that the accounting and operational records faithfully reflect the true situation and can be verified by the supervisory departments and by internal and external auditors.

3.2. . Retention of documents

Retain all documents relating to your professional activity, following the procedures currently applicable, as well as the regulations which may specifically apply to the department in which you work, and the instructions you may receive in relation to specific cases from Legal Services and Compliance.

3.3. Cooperation with supervisory, audit, and management departments

3.3.1

Cooperate with BBVA's supervisory and audit departments, responding to their requests and providing the information that they require with speed and accuracy.

3.3.2

You must cooperate with regulators, administrative and legal authorities, responding with speed and accuracy to the information requests and demands which are within your competence.

3.4. Use of BBVA's resources

Use appropriately and efficiently the resources which BBVA makes available to you to carry out your professional activity. Do not use them for personal purposes, except on an occasional and moderate basis, which is proportionate to the circumstances and is not damaging to BBVA. Apply the internal rules and policies for the use of resources and take appropriate measures to avoid any loss, theft, damage or deterioration. In case of doubt, consult Human Resources.

All materials which are the property of BBVA must be returned to the company when requested, when they are no longer required for the performance of your professional activity, and, in any event, upon termination of your employment.

3.5. Use of computer equipment and electronic mail

Computer equipment and electronic mail are work-related tools that must be used to perform your work-related duties in accordance with section 3.4 of this Code.

Apply the Regulations for use of IT tools and Policy for use of electronic mail; follow the policies on network and equipment security, reporting any suspicion of an attack or intervention to the IT Security department. Remember that BBVA, in fulfillment of its responsibilities, may access, monitor and review your activity on these tools, as well as the information that you store or transmit using our systems.

3.6. Intellectual and commercial property

3.6.1

Use BBVA's logo, brand, image, corporate identity and name only for the proper performance of your professional activity, in accordance with the internal procedures relating to the use of the brand.

Respect BBVA's intellectual and industrial property: courses, projects, programmes, information systems, processes, technology and "know how", as well as information on customers, products, strategies and corporate transactions, must only be used for BBVA's own professional purposes.

3.7.2

Keep confidential and restrict access to information relating to BBVA's plans, projects and strategic activities, as well as any other information of a strictly professional nature to which you have had access in the course of your work. Store the information relating to these projects and activities with due care, so that it may not be accessed by third parties.

3.7.3

Your duty of confidentiality continues beyond the termination of your employment with BBVA.

3.8. Expenses⁽⁴⁾

When you use or authorise the use of BBVA's funds, you must obtain the necessary approvals in accordance with BBVA's policies. Ensure that the expenses are appropriate, reasonable, proportionate to the circumstances and are related to the pursuit of BBVA's corporate objectives and document them appropriately. Follow the Policy on lodging and employee travel expenses and BBVA's travel expenses procedures.

3.9. Suppliers

BBVA's suppliers shall be selected through objective and transparent processes, following the Corporate standard for procurement of goods and contracting services; Policy for responsible purchasing.

3.9.1

When choosing suppliers and monitoring the services they provide, bear in mind that their conduct towards BBVA, its employees and third parties must be consistent with the standards and principles of this Code.

(4) These shall include (but are not limited to) costs incurred in representing BBVA, travel, meals, attendance at promotional events and any other corporate activities.

3.10. Dealing with conflicts of interest

3.10.1

Avoid situations in which a conflict of interest might influence your professional conduct. A conflict of interest exists when a personal or family relationship or friendship or any other type of outside circumstance might affect your professional objectivity and your duty to act in the best interests of BBVA and of our customers.

3.10.2

If you find yourself in a situation where a conflict of interest exists, or where you think a conflict of interest might be perceived, always communicate this to your line manager and, if there is any doubt about how to resolve it, consult with Compliance.

3.10.3

In all circumstances, avoid participating in decisions on matters affected by the conflict of interest and influencing individuals responsible for making such decisions. Conflicts may arise subsequently. In such cases, communicate the conflict as soon as it occurs and desist from the activity which it relates to.

3.10.4

Apply the internal procedure relating to the prevention and management of conflicts of interests and, in particular, the Procedure for the prevention and management of conflicts of interest in the provision of services and investment activities at BBVA.

Follow the Principles for the disposal of assets and equipment owned by BBVA by offer to its employees and, if the assets concerned are real estate assets, follow their manuals and specific procedures.

3.12. Accepting and offering gifts or personal benefits⁽⁵⁾

In the scope of your professional activity at BBVA, you must not solicit nor accept gifts, payments, commissions or any other personal benefits from BBVA's customers or suppliers, nor from anyone who wishes to establish a relationship with BBVA as a customer or potential suppliers, or anyone acting on their behalf.

3.12.1

Notwithstanding the above, you may accept gifts of a promotional nature, hospitality or small gifts customary in business activities, providing all the following circumstances apply:

3.12.2

- A They have a reasonable value. Gifts with a reasonable value will be understood to be those with a value not exceeding €150 or the applicable currency equivalent. In order to calculate the value, all gifts and small gifts received from the same supplier or client within a period of six months must be taken into account.
- B They must be proportionate to the circumstances and social customs. Gifts which, because of timing or other reasons might be perceived as being made with the intention of influencing professional decisions which you are responsible for making, should not be accepted.
- C They must not have been solicited.

You must never accept gifts of cash or cash equivalents (gift cards) whatever the amount.

3.12.3

Gifts provided to your “immediate relatives” or, on your instructions, to other persons or charitable organisations, are considered, for the purposes of the foregoing paragraphs, to be personal gifts.

Never accept or offer a gift which, if it were to become public knowledge, would be considered inappropriate or unprofessional. If you have any doubts, consult Compliance.

3.12.5

Follow the Procedures on acceptance of gifts by employees, unless your department or unit has a stricter policy, in which case the latter should apply.

3.12.6

⁽⁵⁾ Gifts, goods, services, tickets to shows or sporting events, travel, preferential treatment, special discounts... or any other thing of value. Attendance at seminars or activities purely for training purposes and professional lunches will not be considered as personal benefits, unless the cost, location, context or ancillary services are disproportionate to the purpose of the occasion.

3.13. Conduct in the securities markets

3.13.1

You should not buy assets or securities in relation to which you have Privileged Information⁽⁶⁾. You should not share privileged information with third parties. If, as an employee of BBVA, you have information of this nature, you must advise Compliance.

3.13.2

You must not artificially change asset prices or the listed price of traded securities: neither through your activity in the markets nor by circulating false or deceptive information, nor by participating in any other transactions which might change the market value of companies or assets in an artificial manner.

3.13.3

Do not undertake securities market transactions on an uncovered basis or without adequate provision of funds.

3.13.4

Do not undertake speculative intraday⁽⁷⁾ transactions, nor any transactions which by virtue of their risk, volatility or other circumstances require continuous monitoring of the market which might interfere with your professional activity with BBVA. In case of doubt, consult Compliance.

3.13.5

Follow the BBVA Group Policy on Conduct in the Securities Markets. Individuals subject to the Internal Standards of Conduct in the Securities Markets must follow the principles contained in these special regulations, as well as the general standards set out in this paragraph.

- C Denigrating the reputation of our competitors.

3.14.1

When managing our personal assets, we must avoid situations which could create conflicts of interest. Do not accept or request special conditions or favourable treatment in your dealings as a customer of BBVA, unless they are applicable to all employees of group entity to which you belong, or they are based on objective parameters.

3.15.1

To the extent that the following might represent a conflict of interest with BBVA:

If your participation forms part of your conditions of employment and you receive remuneration, which must always be proportionate and reasonable, you must refer to Human Resources and your line manager, before participating, for their authorisation.

3.16.5

Persons who perform senior management functions⁽¹⁰⁾ may not engage in professional activities apart from their work at BBVA. The management of personal or family matters and business, undertaking charitable activities, teaching or disseminating knowledge, or any other type of activities authorised in accordance with the criteria determined by the Corporate Integrity Management Committee, must be authorised in advance by your line manager and Human Resources.

3.16.6

Do not use BBVA's name, or invoke your position as an employee of BBVA, to influence unduly the completion of private transactions or activities.

(8) This does not apply to persons subject to the Code who are not employed by the Group.

(9) For these purposes, these shall include the management of personal or family business and matters, which must not affect the performance of your work, limit the flexibility of your timetable and commitment, nor overlap or compete with those of BBVA.

(10) Persons who are responsible for teams, and who are included in the management level immediately reporting to the management committee for their Area or Country.

3.17. Media relations

If you believe that any of your professional activities might have repercussions or be of significance in the news media, or if you are contacted by the news media regarding a professional activity, report this in advance to your line manager and to Communications. 3.17.1

Before publishing an opinion or information as a representative of BBVA, or participating in a public event, interview, conference or course in the same capacity, or in any other circumstances in which it might be understood that your opinions, statements or the information you provide might be attributable to BBVA, consult your line manager and, if appropriate, Communications.

3.17.2

3.17.4

3.18. Use of social media

3.18.1

When you publish information or an opinion as an employee of BBVA, apply the internal standards of behaviour on social media. Behave with respect, using good judgement and common sense and being careful about the information you share. Do not, in any circumstances, publish information which is confidential to BBVA, its customers or employees, nor any opinions which might be attributed to BBVA. Seek prior authorisation from your line manager before uploading images of our premises or events related to BBVA.

3.18.2

(11) Facilitation payments consist of the payment of small amounts of money to public officials in exchange for guaranteeing or expediting the processing of an administrative procedure or routine process such as, for example, obtaining a permit or licence to which the entity is legally entitled. What differentiates facilitation payments from other forms of corruption is that the person making this type of payment is not seeking to secure a deal, contract or commercial contract, but only to expedite a process and the fact that usually what they are trying to obtain with the payment is something to which they have a right.
